CASE STUDY : 8

We onboarded this brand at the end of December '22.

The main concern for the client was that sales were declining MoM.

Statistics of the past 3 months before onboarding:

- October '22

Sales: $118K

- November '22

Sales: $115K

- December '22

Sales: $110K

The first thing we did was perform an audit of the account to gain a better understanding of its bottlenecks.

Here are some Findings from our audit:

- The brand used all match types and ad types in their campaigns.
- The most successful targetings were Phrase and Broad, which drove the highest sales against the most spend.
- ASIN targeting proved to be the most profitable SP ad type, with a 6% ACOS and the highest CVR.
- The TOS placement resulted in the highest CVR and lowest CPA.
- The spending ratio at the TOS level is not being fully utilized.
- $277 worth of poorly-performing search terms need to be optimized and placed in the right place for better CVR.

- $1500 worth of poorly-performing campaigns need to be optimized or relocated for better CVR.
- Keyword stuffing is present in a campaign with hundreds of keywords and multiple ad types, leading to improper budget distribution.
- Branded and generic keywords have been placed in the same campaign.

Here are some Optimizations we made:

- Shifted ad budget to profitable campaigns and search terms with better CVR.
- Restructured campaign manager with portfolio adjustments and naming convention changes.
- Increased budget towards profitable ASIN targeting, focusing on high-converting ASINs.
- Optimized bids and placements for successful keywords to increase ad spend ROI.
- Negated ad spend on ineffective keywords.
- Structured campaigns and ad groups by match type and branded vs. generic targeting.
- Utilized Mansour Norouzi's SUPA sheets to track keyword performance and created new campaigns for keywords with rising search query volume, impression share, add-to-cart share, and purchase share.

Results:

January '23

Sales: $130K (18% increment MoM)

Sales were declining MoM from October to December. After onboarding us and implementing optimizations, we were able to increase sales by 18%
